On April 21, 2023, the Geography Department of Huatma Rajguru Mahavidyalaya organized a Village Socio-economic Survey in Donde Village, located in the Taluka of Khed, Pune District. The activity aimed to provide students with practical exposure to rural life and an opportunity to understand the socio-economic dynamics of a typical Indian village.

The Village Socio-economic Survey was conducted in Donde Village, which is situated approximately 10 kilometers to the west of Rajgurunagar city. The activity engaged 35 third-year students who were eager to explore the rural setting, interact with villagers, and gain insights into the socio-economic aspects of village life. Socio-economic Survey: Students conducted surveys to gather data on the socio-economic conditions of the village, including demographics, income sources, and access to basic amenities.

Interaction with Villagers: The students engaged in meaningful conversations with the villagers to understand their daily lives, challenges, and aspirations.

Visit to Farms: Students had the opportunity to visit agricultural farms in the village, gaining insights into local farming practices, crop cultivation, and the challenges faced by farmers.

Visit to Cow Sheds and Goat Farms: A visit to livestock facilities provided students with a better understanding of animal husbandry practices in the village.

Sightseeing of the Village: Students explored the cultural and historical aspects of the village, including landmarks, temples, and significant community spaces.

Hilly Area of Village: Exploring the hilly terrain allowed students to appreciate the geographical diversity of the region and its impact on agriculture and land use.

River Side Visit: A visit to the river provided an opportunity to study the significance of water bodies in the village and their impact on agriculture and daily life.

Participating Students: A total of 35 third-year students from the Geography Department actively participated in the socio-economic survey and other village activities.

The activity was conducted under the guidance of Prof. Dr. Dilip Muluk, who provided valuable insights and direction to the students throughout the day.

Coordinators: The event was coordinated by Dr. D. M. Markad and M. L. Muluk, faculty members from the Geography Department, who ensured the smooth execution of the activities and the safety of the students.

The Village Socio-economic Survey in Donde Village was an enriching and educational experience for the participating students. It allowed them to apply their academic knowledge in a practical context, gain a deeper understanding of rural life, and appreciate the socio-economic challenges faced by villagers. The interactions with the local community, visits to farms, and exploration of the village's natural and cultural aspects enhanced their geographical understanding.

The Geography Department at Huatma Rajguru Mahavidyalaya acknowledges the efforts of the students, faculty members, and coordinators for their active participation and dedication in making this field trip a success. Activities like these not only contribute to academic growth but also foster a sense of social responsibility and cultural awareness among students.
