Date: November 3, 2022

Subjects for Poster Making: Biodiversity Hotspots, Geographical Features, Cultural Geography, Water Resources, Global Health Geography, Disaster Preparedness

Participants: Third-Year students: 35

On November 3, 2022, the Geography Department at Huatma Rajguru Mahavidyalaya organized a Geography Poster Making activity, allowing third-year students to display their research and creative skills. The event served as a platform for students to explore and present various geographical topics, with a focus on raising awareness and promoting geographical knowledge.

Poster-Making Subjects:

The activity featured a range of geographical subjects, and each student selected a specific topic to create an informative and visually appealing poster:

Biodiversity Hotspots: Students explored the importance of biodiversity hotspots, the species they support, and the significance of their conservation efforts.

Geographical Features: This subject delved into the unique geographical features worldwide, including mountains, deserts, and rivers, emphasizing their formation and characteristics.

Cultural Geography: Participants investigated cultural diversity in specific regions, including traditions, languages, heritage, and their impact on local communities.

Water Resources: Students highlighted the significance of water resources, such as rivers, lakes, and aquifers, and stressed the importance of sustainable management and conservation.

Global Health Geography: This topic focused on the geographical aspects of health, disease, and healthcare access, with an emphasis on their influence on global health outcomes.

Disaster Preparedness: Students explored the importance of disaster preparedness and emergency response in regions prone to natural disasters.

Poster Creation and Presentation:

Each student conducted extensive research on their chosen subject, gathered relevant information, and used creative design elements to produce visually engaging posters. They incorporated maps, images, charts, and graphs to effectively convey their key messages. The posters were a blend of educational content and artistic creativity, aimed at making the topics accessible and captivating for viewers.

After creating their posters, the students presented their work to a panel of judges, which included faculty members from the Geography Department. These presentations provided students with an opportunity to explain their selected topics, share their research findings, and respond to inquiries from the judges.

Prize Winners:

Among the participants, five students demonstrated exceptional effort, creativity, and presentation skills. The prize winners of the Geography Poster Making activity are as follows:

- 1. Karale Pratiksha
- 2. Bangar Sonali
- 3. Lavange Pranita
- 4. Argade Chetan
- 5. Satpute Navnath

These students received recognition for their outstanding contributions to the activity.

The Geography Poster Making activity at Huatma Rajguru Mahavidyalaya was a resounding success, highlighting the dedication, knowledge, and artistic abilities of the participating third-year students. The range of subjects covered showcased the diverse and relevant aspects of geography.

This event not only enabled students to demonstrate their research and presentation skills but also enhanced their comprehension of geographical concepts. It encouraged the practical application of geography in a creative and engaging manner.

The Geography Department extends its heartfelt congratulations to the prize-winning students and commends all participants for their enthusiasm in creating awareness about various geographical subjects. Such initiatives contribute to the comprehensive development of students and the propagation of geographic knowledge within the college community.
