The students of the Department of Botany participated in the Zonal Level Avishkar Research competition held on 4th October 2025 at C.T. Bora College, Shirur, Maharashtra. The competition was organized under the guidance of Savitribai Phule Pune University, Pune, to promote research and innovation among students.

The event began with an inaugural ceremony followed by the presentation of research projects in various categories such as Agriculture and Animal Husbandry, Engineering and Technology, Medicine, Humanities, and Pure Sciences. Students presented their innovative research ideas through posters and models.

From our department, 06 students of F.Y. B.Sc. participated enthusiastically, showcasing their projects on topics related to post-harvest technology, bio-fertilizers, and sustainable plant growth methods. The interaction with judges and evaluators helped students gain valuable feedback and improve their research and presentation skills.

The competition provided a great platform for young researchers to share their ideas, develop scientific thinking, and gain exposure to real-world problem-solving.
